

Paul's Product Review

V6 Automatic Transmission Kick Down Cable

by: Paul Vargyas

Also known as a “Detent” cable, this is a custom made quality reproduction from Rodney Dickman of the 1985-1988 Pontiac Fiero V-6 automatic transmission kick down cable. This is an exact replacement, not a generic one size fits all. The OE cable tends to corrode and fray due to heat and corrosion. This cable attaches to the throttle body bracket, then to the automatic transmission. When you apply hard pressure to the accelerator, the automatic transmission “kicks down” to a lower gear to provide more power for increased acceleration to pass, etc. This cable sells for $29.95.